

Call for Papers
for a conference on
The Future of Forward Guidance

11-12 May 2017

Sveriges Riksbank, Stockholm, Sweden

Sveriges Riksbank, the central bank of Sweden, will host a conference on “The Future of Forward Guidance” on 11-12 May 2017. The aim of the conference is to discuss theoretical approaches, empirical analysis, and practical experience of forward guidance on monetary policy. This includes topics such as the choice of time-dependent or data-dependent forward guidance on future policy rates, the publication of forecasts for the policy rate, or forward guidance about balance sheet policies and other policy measures.

We invite theoretical and empirical contributions on these and related topics. Participation in the conference has been confirmed by Jon Faust (Johns Hopkins University) and Jordi Galí (CREI). Submissions should be made in PDF format by 15 February 2017 to fgconference@riksbank.se. Authors of accepted papers will be notified by 28 February 2017. Sveriges Riksbank will cover expenses for economy-class travel and accommodation for paper presenters and discussants with an academic affiliation.

The program and other information about the conference will be posted on the Riksbank website (www.riksbank.com/research/conferences), which also contains information about past conferences. Questions can be directed to the organisers at fgconference@riksbank.se.