■ Professor Kenneth Rogoff visits Riksbank

Kenneth Rogoff, Professor of Economics at Harvard University and advisor to the Riksbank, will be visiting Stockholm on 15 and 16 November.

Kenneth Rogoff will meet the Executive Board and representatives of the Riksbank's monetary policy and financial stability departments to discuss current central bank issues.

Kenneth Rogoff has previously worked at the US central bank, the Federal Reserve (Board of Governors, Washington), and at the IMF, where he was Chief Economist and Director of Research during the period 2001 – 2003. Mr Rogoff's main research areas are international finance and macroeconomics.
