■ Press meeting on the IMF's view of the Swedish economy

A delegation from the International Monetary Fund, IMF, will conclude its annual visit to Sweden on Monday 15 June. The visit is made in connection with the IMF's regular consultations with member countries. During the course of its visit, the delegation has met representatives from the Riksbank, the Ministry of Finance, Swedish banks, Employment and Communications, the National Institute of Economic Research, the Swedish National Debt Office and the labour market organisations, for example.

The head of the delegation, Mr Peter Doyle, will present his views of the Swedish economy and will afterwards be available to answer questions. The press meeting will be held on Monday 15 June and will begin at 4 p.m. Entrance from Brunkebergstorg 11. Press cards must be shown.

The IMF's statement will be available at the press meeting and will also be published on the Riksbank's website, www.riksbank.se.
